

Please Meet Adam Thimmesch

Adam Thimmesch is a Republican candidate for the Iowa House of Representatives, seeking to serve District 68. A lifelong resident of the district, Adam is proud to call Northeast Iowa home, where he and his wife, Nicole, are raising their family, including 3 children.

Adam grew up in Aurora and later moved to Fairbank, where he graduated from Wapsie Valley High School. He went on to follow his passion for agriculture at Dunkerton Co-op. Today, Adam farms with Nicole's family, raises livestock and works as a location manager at Grain Bin Supply, Aurora, where he continues to be connected with his passions and the area.

Through his work and involvement in the community, Adam has built strong relationships and a firsthand understanding of the challenges and opportunities facing families in Iowa. He has been actively involved as a fairboard member, volunteer youth wrestling and softball coach, Bremer County crop superintendent, swine committee member and general parent volunteer, church trustee member and is passionate about giving back to the community that has given so much to him and his family.

Growing up in rural Iowa, Adam learned the values of hard work, faith, personal responsibility, and service to others. These values continue to guide his life and are the foundation of his campaign. He believes in protecting the freedoms and traditions that make Iowa strong while working to create opportunities for future generations.

Adam is running for the Iowa House to be a strong, principled voice for the people of District 68. His campaign is focused on:

- Supporting Iowa's land and protecting family farms
- Protecting families and children
- Strengthening rural communities and small businesses
- Promoting responsible, limited government
- Protecting individual freedoms and constitutional rights

"I decided to run because I care deeply about our community and the future we are building for our children," Adam says. "As someone who grew up here and is now raising a family here, I am committed to standing up for the values that matter most to the people of District 68."

Adam is dedicated to listening to the people he hopes to represent and being an accessible, accountable voice at the State Capitol. With deep roots in the district and a passion for service, he is committed to working hard to keep Northeast Iowa a great place to live, work, and raise a family.
